

WorkStride Incentives

WorkStride Incentives helps you motivate and measure your sales team's performance with easy contest creation, sales entry, configurable reporting, and rewards fulfillment.

How We Help You Hit Your Stride

Configurable Software

Our configurable SaaS software powers multiple initiatives seamlessly on one platform, including recognition, sales incentives, and training.

Program Management

Our experienced team helps you build and run your program from day one. With a dedicated Client Success Manager and the support of our in-house customer service team, you are in good hands.

Modern Rewards

We offer a retail-value shopping experience, so users get the full value of your rewards spend. We are also happy to incorporate merchandise, cash, branded items, travel—anything that motivates your users.

Software

Build and Run Multiple Promotions

WorkStride puts the power to create incentive promotions in the hands of program administrators. You set the promotion details and choose your target group of sales reps or partners—only the selected participants will see your contest. (Or we can build them for you if you're not the DIY type!)

Integrate with your CRM or POS system

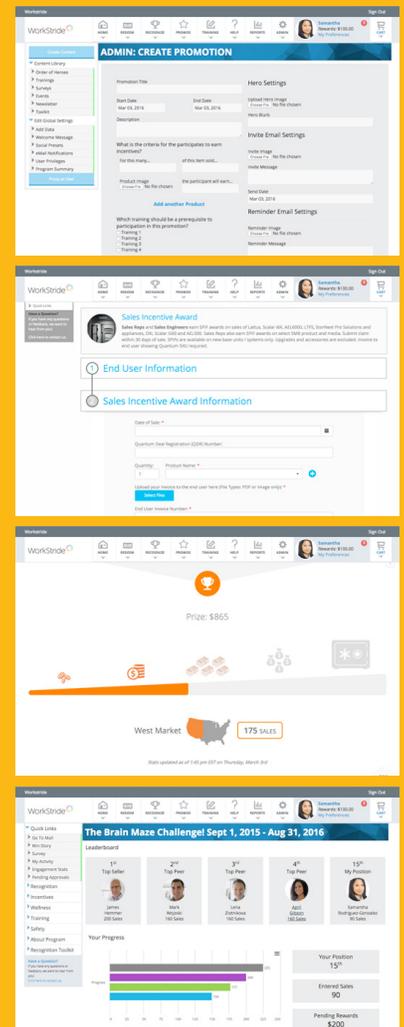

WorkStride integrates with third-party software to receive sales information on a real-time basis. If participants enter their own activity, we can check against your supplied sales data before disbursing rewards.

Measure Performance with Real-Time Reporting

Participants can view their own stats through personalized dashboards at any time. Administrators can pull detailed reporting on program performance, broken down by product, by territory, by rep—any way you need to see it!

Incorporate Social Participation

Introduce social elements like leaderboards, badging, and gamification to your incentive program to create a culture of friendly competition and keep participation high.

Additional Helpful Features

Single sign-on with existing websites or intranet

Communications tools that allow you to post or push content targeted to different groups

Integration with an existing LMS or host product training content directly on your incentive website

Program Management

Account Management: You'll have a dedicated Client Success Manager from day one who will be your single point of contact for the life of the program.

Customer Service: Your program participants can reach a live agent from 9am – 6pm EST Monday-Friday. We answer emails and voicemails within one business day.

Communications: Need a catchy promotion title? Want help crafting a launch announcement? Our marketing department is at your service to help make your program a success.

Training: All managers will be trained before launch and provided with site user manuals.

Our Rewards

WorkStride provides your participants with a true retail shopping experience with an almost unlimited choice. Recipients can shop at hundreds of retailers at retail value—no markups and no arbitrary points values.

Want More Options?

We are happy to include any types of rewards that will motivate program participants, including non-monetary social recognition, cash, merchandise, travel and experiences, or company perks.
