

WorkStride Recognition

WorkStride Recognition helps uncover the great work being done at your company and reinforces those desirable behaviors through recognition, rewards, and social participation.

How We Help You Hit Your Stride

Configurable Software

Our configurable SaaS software powers multiple initiatives seamlessly on one platform, including recognition, sales incentives, and training.

Program Management

Our experienced team helps you build and run your program from day one. With a dedicated Client Success Manager and the support of our in-house customer service team, you are in good hands.

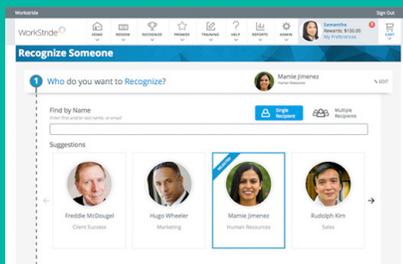

Modern Rewards

We offer a retail-value shopping experience, so users get the full value of your rewards spend. We are also happy to incorporate merchandise, cash, branded items, travel —anything that motivates your users.

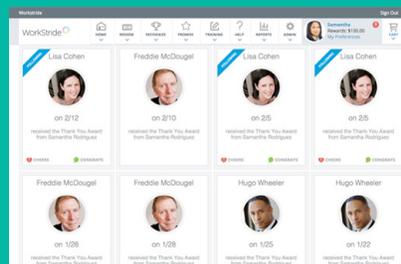

Software

Celebrate Everyday Achievements

WorkStride Recognition helps your company create an online community where managers and employees across your organization can nominate each other for great work.

Amplify Recognition with a Social Stream

It's nice to say "great job" to a colleague in person or via email. But if you make it social then everyone gets to join in the act and one message can echo for days throughout the entire company.

Build Culture through Behavior

When you align your recognition program with your company's core values and goals, you show employees the behaviors that will lead to success.

Additional Helpful Features

Integration with HRIS and payroll systems for easy data sharing

Single sign-on with existing websites or intranet

Budget tools that empower you to track and control reward spend

Configurable reports that allow management to view and analyze all program activity

Global capabilities, including language translation, parity, and international fulfillment

Program Management

Account Management: You'll have a dedicated Client Success Manager from day one who will be your single point of contact for the life of the program.

Customer Service: Your program participants can reach a live agent from 9am – 6pm EST Monday-Friday. We answer emails and voicemails within one business day.

Communications: Need a catchy award title? Want help crafting a launch announcement? Our marketing department is at your service to help make your program a success.

Training: All managers will be trained before launch and provided with site user manuals.

Our Rewards

WorkStride provides your participants with a true retail shopping experience with an almost unlimited choice. Recipients can shop at hundreds of retailers at retail value—no markups and no arbitrary points values.

Want More Options?

We are happy to include any types of rewards that will motivate program participants, including non-monetary social recognition, cash, merchandise, travel and experiences, or company perks.
